Please put on the agenda for May 4th:

Hear from Marsha Blair with Texas AgriLife Extension concerning Coronavirus Aid, Relief and Economic Security Act.

Marsha wanted on the agenda for them to do an update that day and I said okay but after I hung up I realized we would exceed the 10 limit rule so just call her and tell her we can't have the update but we have her on for the above item.

AgriLife Extension partner – Judge Sharla Baldrige

The Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service is leading an education effort helping local government and school districts understand the Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security (CARES) Act. While these are challenging times for local communities, the CARES Act includes several programs addressing issues that states, and local governments are handling as they work together to protect their communities and economic infrastructure.

AgriLife Extension would like to offer assistance to help translate this information and answer any questions local organizations might have about eligibility requirements. Please confirm that you have received this email by replying. If you are not the appropriate person, please help us update our contact list.

The agency will be working with county judges, commissioners, municipalities, and school districts primarily, to provide education on the many different aspects of this relief package. Online trainings and educational resources will help assist entities in understanding its purpose and processes for meeting eligibility.

AgriLife Extension will serve as an information conduit to ensure everyone who is eligible understands how to apply for federal relief funding. This educational initiative will focus on the following areas of relief: Treasury, Small Business, Homeland Security, Justice/Police, HUD, HHS, Health, Labor/Arts, Education, Agriculture, Food Programs, and Rural Development.

The first training is available at AgriLife Learn (<https://agrilifelearn.tamu.edu/product?catalog=TAEX-001>). Additional information and online trainings will be available in May, one specifically focusing on agriculture. All information is subject to updating as further details about the program are set forth.

We are pleased to be leading this education effort on behalf of The Texas A&M University System and helping Texas recover from the devastation the COVID-19 pandemic has caused to our local communities.

Thank you,
